Introduction

The Southwest Center for Microsurgical Tubal Ligation (Southwest Center) is committed to protecting the privacy of those who browse the pages and access the online services of swtubareversal.com ("the Website"). From time to time, we may update this policy to reflect changes in the site or our privacy standards. If you have any questions about our privacy policy or terms of use, please contact us using the online contact form.

Southwest Center does not share any information gathered on the site with third parties. We have made reasonable efforts to protect your information, both on and offline. Information transmitted by the user to Southwest Center via the Website will be used only for the intended purposes of the transmission. At any time, you may contact Southwest Center to remove your information from our records.

Logging Practices

The Website logs visitor IP addresses as part of routine performance and security logging. Neither Southwest Center nor our site administrators will republish, distribute, or otherwise disclose IP address information to third parties or use this information for any reason other than security or performance monitoring.

Cookies

The Website does not use persistent cookies or tracking mechanisms that collect personally identifying information. However, the Website does use session cookies to anonymously collect a visitor's IP address and the date and time of the visit. Session cookies are temporary files that are erased either when you close the browser or twelve hours after the cookie was loaded. We use these session cookies for site management purposes. Accepting session cookies on the Website is voluntary; you may still use the site if you decline cookies.

The Website may also link to sites that use cookies. Please see the privacy policies of those sites for further information on their collection and use of personal information and cookies.

Forms

The Website has a contact form that transmits information to our staff via e-mail. Southwest Center will use the information given in this form to communicate with the user only in the manner the forms prescribe and will not sell or otherwise distribute the user's information to third parties.
